

Essex Home Furnishings

Taking Pride In Canadian Design & Craftsmanship

As the spring season approaches, new lines and products continue to appear in the inspiring showroom of Essex Home Furnishings. "With 30,000 sq. ft., we have more space than ever to show the furniture our customers have been requesting," says owner Dan Turner. "Our new collections are very customizable, giving you the opportunity to design your own furniture to truly fit you, your home and your lifestyle."

With so many of today's homes featuring an open concept layout, lots of people are looking for furniture that fashionably coordinates the entire home. Canadian furniture manufacturer Viebois kept the flow of open plan living in mind with its new product lines. The company has designed various occasional tables with matching media credenzas and full wall entertainment units to fit big screen televisions and organize components with smart, tidy storage features. Made in Quebec using local materials, Viebois offers 10 different finishes ranging from light, natural birch to dark espresso and distinctive charcoal finishes.

Another showroom highlight is the Steven & Chris furniture line. "We are really excited to introduce it in our store," manager Melanie Oliver says. "The pieces have a lot of character and style. The fabrics are beautiful, the leathers are gorgeous. These are great designer looks from the Designer Guys!"

Internationally famous, the Canadian designing duo has been making over rooms on television for years. Currently, Steven Sabados and Chris Hyndman can be viewed on their self-named CBC lifestyle show and their furniture can be seen at Essex Home Furnishings.

The line is crafted in Canada by Decor-Rest Furniture. Upholstered sofas, sectionals, armchairs, ottomans, dining chairs and headboards encompass updated classic to comfortably contemporary styles. As Steven and Chris state, their signature collections are "designed for who you are and how you live."

Much of that living is likely done in the kitchen and dining area, where you nourish your family and entertain friends. Give them comfortable seating with Bermex's casual and formal dining furniture and bar stools for the home, made with solid wood and restaurant quality construction at the company's factories in Quebec. You can design it your way, choosing from more than 86 different finishes, 150 fabrics and leathers, 70 table sizes, various legs and pedestal bases and 400 chairs and bar stool models.

"It's interesting to see new trends, rustic style tables with distressed tops, using lighter, warm wood tones," Melanie says. Wood products are never indestructible; however, Bermex's collection is superior. Wood stains are rubbed into the grain by hand. Every piece is treated with a protective Bermaguard finish. Hot water, bleach, red wine, warm cookware and other threats have no effect on the furniture's beauty.
